

Purpose

In support of community activities and in its role as an anchor institution in the community, the Wauwatosa Public Library (WPL) makes its meeting spaces available for use by the public when not needed by WPL or other City departments. WPL's meeting spaces include one large meeting room, two conference rooms, and six study rooms.

The Library Board subscribes to the tenets of the American Library Association's Bill of Rights, which states in part, "Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use."

Firefly Room

The Firefly Room is a large meeting room that holds up to 125 people. The Firefly Room is available for use by Wauwatosa area organizations engaged in educational, cultural, intellectual, or charitable activities. For-profit agencies may use the space, but not for the purpose of sales or solicitations. Programs must be open to the public. Anyone requesting admittance to the program must be allowed to attend free of charge.

Organizations may reserve the Firefly Room up to six months in advance. To ensure equitable access, organizations may reserve the Firefly Room up to 12 days in a calendar year. Individuals must be at least 18 years old to submit a reservation, and one adult must be present for every 15 minors.

The Firefly Room has audio-visual equipment available.

Conference Rooms

WPL has two conference rooms that each hold up to 12 people and have fixed setups that provide a quiet, semi-private setting. Individuals 14 and older may use the conference rooms. These rooms are not suitable for public programs, and meetings do not have to be open to the public.

The conference rooms may be reserved up to six months in advance. To ensure equitable access, people may reserve a conference room up to eight days in a month. If an individual or group does not arrive within 20 minutes of their reservation start time without advance notice, WPL may cancel their reservation.

Study Rooms

WPL's six study rooms provide a quiet, semi-private setting for individual or small group work or study. One user must be at least 14 years old. Study rooms are available for use on a first-come, first-served basis.

Regulations for Use

1. WPL has the right to approve or revoke permission to use meeting spaces at any time.

19. Use of a meeting space does not constitute WPL's endorsement of a group's policies or beliefs.
20. If a user fails to show up without prior notification for three reservations in a year, any future reservations the user has on file will be cancelled.
21. Any group or individual using any meeting space shall indemnify and hold harmless the WPL from any and all actions or lawsuits relating to its use of such rooms and facilities. Further, such group or individual agrees to reimburse the WPL for any and all repair costs and for any damage caused directly or indirectly to the room and/or facilities by such use thereof. If any organization refuses to pay for repairs, the matter will be referred to the City Attorney for legal action.
22. Any organization or individual that fails to comply with WPL policies may be asked to leave and may result in denial of future meeting space use.
23. Users may appeal any decision of WPL concerning meeting space use to the Library Board at its next regularly scheduled meeting.
